

Greg Orme

Greg Orme is an award-winning author and keynote speaker specialising in leadership development and organisational transformation. He has delivered over 400 talks worldwide as a C-suite advisor, educator, coach, and facilitator.

KEY TOPICS

- Are you Future-Fit?
- How to sharpen your human edge
- Experiment to Build an Innovative Culture
- Unleash your human superpowers in a world of AI

BIOGRAPHY

Greg Orme: Leadership Development Expert and Keynote Speaker

Greg Orme is a renowned figure in leadership development and organisational transformation, especially in the digital economy. As an award-winning author and keynote speaker, Greg Orme brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to his global clientele. He has delivered over 400 talks to executive audiences around the world.

The Human Edge: A Landmark in Business Literature

Greg Orme's book, The Human Edge: How Curiosity and Creativity Are Your Superpowers in the Digital Economy (Pearson), won Business Book of the Year 2020. This seminal work underscores the importance of curiosity and creativity in thriving within the digital economy. Greg Orme's insights provide actionable strategies for leaders seeking to foster these qualities within their organisations. In addition to The Human Edge, Greg Orme is the author of The Spark: How to Ignite and Lead Business Creativity (FT Publishing, 2014). He writes a regular monthly column for Forbes on business creativity, leadership, and the future of work. Greg Orme has also appeared on BBC World News and in The Financial Times, sharing his insights on leadership and innovation.

Keynote Speaker, Leadership Coach & Advisor

As a keynote speaker, Greg Orme delivers impactful speeches and executive education sessions to audiences globally. His talks are designed to inspire and equip leaders with the tools necessary for navigating the complexities of the digital age. Additionally, Greg Orme offers personalised coaching and advisory services to leadership teams and individual executives. His expertise helps leaders develop the behaviours, processes, and cultures that support creativity, innovation, and entrepreneurial spirit. Greg Orme is a skilled facilitator of offsites and large events. His sessions are tailored to foster maximum interactivity, with formats ranging from keynotes to full-day workshops. Participants consistently rate his sessions between 4.7 and 4.9 out of 5. Moreover, Greg Orme collaborates with organisations to design large-scale executive education and organisational transformation programmes. His approach ensures that these programmes are aligned with the strategic goals and unique challenges of each client.

Learning Approach

All of Greg Orme's sessions are designed for maximum interactivity and flexibility. They are offered in various formats, including keynotes (30-120 minutes), half-day, and full-day versions. Whether delivered virtually or face-to-face, Greg Orme's sessions maintain high engagement and effectiveness.

Greg Orme's Impact on Global Organisations

Greg Orme has worked with some of the world's most respected organisations across various industries. His clients include BMW, Sky, Ogilvy & Mather, eBay, the International Olympic Committee, and the World Economic Forum. Through his leadership development and organisational change initiatives, Greg Orme has helped these organisations foster innovation and adapt to the fast-paced changes of the digital economy.

Academic and Professional Background

Greg Orme has an impressive academic and professional background. He has been a lecturer and programme director at the London Business School, where he founded and grew the Centre for Creative Business. His first career as a BBC and ITV television journalist enables him to communicate with clarity and engage audiences effectively.

Book Greg Orme to Speak at Your Next Event!

Greg Orme's expertise in leadership development and organisational transformation, coupled with his engaging style as a keynote speaker, makes him an invaluable asset to any organisation seeking to thrive in the digital economy. To book Greg Orme for your next event or to learn more about his services, visit our contact page.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY

"...Simply outstanding. Greg offered clear, action orientated capabilities to ignite new ideas, innovation and agility in our culture. We're now looking at how to embed these in our business. All this in an inspiring, engaging and humorous style that received rave reviews from our managers."

— Dik Vos, CEO SQS Group TECHNOLOGY

"Very customer-oriented, eager to listen and to learn about his client, and, ultimately, bring the best to serve it. Great presenter, keeping calm and focused on delivery all the time."

— Sberbank Corporate University

"...extraordinarily great audience evaluations. Greg displayed excellent knowledge of the topic, brilliant presentation skills and amazing charisma"

